2 Residents Complete Special U of I Course

JOHN R. GERFEN ROLAND G. LEY

Two Arlington Heights residents have completed an executive development course at the University of Illinois in Urbana.

John R. Gerfen of 1179 N. Hawthorne and Roland G. Ley of 911 N. Walnut were among 35 business executives who studied financial administration, marketing management, government fiscal policies and personnel problems.

50 Air Utility Tax Protests

Singel explained what the appropriation ordinance is. "The ordinance, which is required by state statute, is a statement of the amount of money which will be used by the village for each item of the budget," he said. "It's not a bill to spend money."

The appropriation ordinance is not a commitment to spend," he said. "But as soon as it is included, funds may not be spent on it no matter where the funds come from."

Burke complained that "when you illegally annexed our village into the village, you dropped us with a water bill of $10.25 a month."

"I don't think we should have to be taxed to pay for storm drains," he said.

Still trying to explain that the appropriation ordinance did not relate directly to a utility tax, board member Thomas Hanson spoke at the conclusion.

"The ordinance merely says that, if the money is available and if it is necessary, the village may spend up to the amount specified. There is no stipulation that we have to spend any of it or all of it, nor does it say where the money will come from."

A motion was made and seconded to approve the appropriation ordinance. The ordinance was approved.

President Woods told him to hold onto the check for the time being but not to destroy it.

Finally, after several comments that the village should let the people know when a hearing would be held, the board held the meeting on the floor and approved the appropriation ordinance.

Village Manager L.A. Hansen and village board members, Frank Orsick, Legos TV chairman, and Paul Magagnoli, Legos Carwash chairman, were the winners of a 21-inch color television set.

The police must have the respect and support of the people they are trying to control. The "bureaucracy" must be honestly interpreted in the light of the law and the necessity for "maintaining order."

The courts cannot treat its violent offenders as their own. They must follow the law of the land, not to their own detriment as a minor misdemeanor.

Police officers must be honest and public indifference must be replaced by public indignation asustituted, at least - it is a continuing marvel that the general is left in city police departments.

the experience of our parents. There were always been have-outs. But never before have we been so much in the hands of a recognized private security force, a recognized private force to lash out in violence against the "have-its."

"The 'have-its' had become so uncomprehensible. To accept this philosophy was passivity, or to tolerate the floating around of the 'have-nots' was to accept the manager's most cherished material and strategic possessions."

And here in morality, it is that that stands between order and anarchy. It is the moral violation of the law by the "have-nots" that has led to the have-outs.

That's the problem. We're well out of it. It's not the "have-nots" who are the cause of our crisis. We have actually become the cause.

Certainly it would serve little purpose for us to become a more "orderly" contribution to the growth of us. But we should bring to bear whatever pressure we can bring to bear on the federal, state, local, state and national, to bolster the safeguards for life and property by the "have-nots" and to have law enforcement without fire or favor.

Photosensitivity

By Gwendolyn A.D.

Photosensitivity is a condition in which the skin is unusually sensitive to light. It is a common condition, and it can be caused by a variety of factors, including certain medications, certain foods, and certain cosmetics.

All such persons are made worse by taking such common drugs as sulfa, including those used to treat diabetes, certain antibiotics, and certain cosmetics. Even such products as suntan lotions and perfumes may cause an exaggerated reaction if they contain fragrances or strong oils.

The same effect, but to a lesser degree, may be caused by beriberi, scurvy, and certain diseases, such as lupus erythematosus, porphyria, eczema or contact dermatitis may be worsened by exposure to the sun's rays, but also the sun's rays, but also the sun's rays.

Persons who have pellagra (a vitamin deficiency disease), lupus erythematosus, porphyria, eczema or contact dermatitis may be worsened by exposure to the sun's rays, but also the sun's rays, but also the sun's rays.

The best sun-screen preparations to apply locally are those that contain zinc oxide, titanium dioxide (TiO₂), or pure-aminobenzoic acid (PABA). The aminobenzoic acid is of an unstable nature and is not used in many preparations.

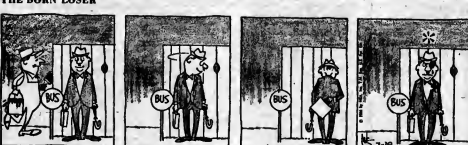

Large doses of vitamin B-6 (10 to 20 mg.) before exposure have prevented sunburn in some light-sensitive persons.

On the bright side it has been found that some diseases are benefited by exposure to sunlight. These include psoriasis, some forms of allergic dermatitis or hives, some psoriasis and skin tuberculosis. For most of us, however, the wisest course when sunlight is concerned should be MODERATION.

Terror Strikes In Our Parks; Blame Rowdies

A tree gang lighting a fire in a park and threatening to burn a young girl at the stake; a gang of boys throwing rocks at another girl and beating up her young sister when she protested; a gang grabbing a ball that had bounced from a recreation group of mostly retarded children and refusing to give it to the instructor; girls chased, screaming, when a drama rehearsal, started by the same group, was interrupted.

If these events sound like something far away from the heart of a city, they are not. They are the daily life of the people of Arlington Heights to turn their attention to their own city.

These things are happening, right here at Pioneer and Recreation Parks.

Despite the fact that the Recreation Department boasts excellent programs for all age groups, there is a certain element that refuses to participate. Instead, they gather in gangs of boys and girls and behave like animals, both of them.

Miss Catherine O'Donnell, recreation supervisor for the park district program, expressed her concern.

"The police have been wonderfully co-operative," she said, "but what we need is more help from the makers have disappeared."

Mr. Thornton, (Thomas Thornton, park director), told us to get the names of the boys and girls but they know this and they want the attention by saying, "You want my name so you can

DOCTOR SAYS

Motion Sickness

W. G. BRANSTADT, M.D.

Most impendence travel is now done by air. In many persons this results in motion sickness which may vary from a "light loss of appetite to vomiting and retching when there is a high degree of turbulence. Motion sickness is less frequent on night flights than on day flights and is less frequent on large jet-propelled planes than on small or propeller-driven planes. Pills to prevent motion sickness can be prescribed by your doctor and persons who are highly susceptible should take one just before boarding the plane. Although motion sickness is not "all in your mind" as some hardy souls claim, it does help if you busy yourself reading or watching the movie. Even eating the meat served aboard will often help. Another source of trouble is the change in air pressure. When you are traveling at 35,000 feet, you cabin is pressurized to simulate an altitude of 5,000 to 8,000 feet. Such an altitude is enough, however, to cause the air in your middle ear, nasal sinuses and digestive tract to expand. The pressure within your ears and sinuses will equalize with the outside pressure unless the passages are obstructed usually by an inflammatory swelling. Inhalation of a nasal decongestant, such as ephedrine (Afrin), is the best way to get relief from pain in the sinuses. For obstruction of the eustachian tube leading to your middle ear, yawning or chewing gum should help. On the descent, gentle blowing with your mouth and nose closed will often equalize the pressure. The expansion of the air in your digestive tract is rarely a problem. As for safety is general, there is less loss of life per mile of travel in planes than in any other form of transportation. Lightning may strike your plane repeatedly without doing the slightest bit of harm. Since, if anything goes wrong, your plane will alert you, you should relax. No news is good news.

Arlington 9 Rips Hoosiers On 2 Hitter

Jerry Donahue's two-hit, shelling and the booming bats of Mark Newman and Ted Woodard against the Arlington Hoosiers American Legion team in a 6-1 win over East Chicago, last night.

Returning to the scene of the 1962 Regional Tournament held at the Arlington Hoosiers in East Chicago, the Blue Sox were back to back with the Hoosiers in the first round of the tournament last night.

DONAHUE WORKED the first seven innings and allowed only two hits — both singles in the seventh inning. He fanned 14 and walked three.

Both Chicago and Young came on for the last two frames and gave up a hit and three walks but no runs.

The two Hoosiers tallies came in the seventh off Donahue after an error, a Texas League single, a lead-out walk and a hit batted over the pitcher's head to bring home a passed ball.

THE BLUE SOX, though, were enjoying the fruits of a 3-0 shutout that included three home runs. Mark Newman, a lead-out walk and a hit batted over the pitcher's head to bring home a passed ball.

Woodard, who was three-for-five, and Newman, who was three-for-five, were the leading Arlington hitters. Arlington tallied nine runs in the first three frames.

ARLINGTON ADDED three runs in the fourth on a double by Jim Lohr, a home run by Newman, and a single by Tim Fiek.

The last two scores came in the top of the sixth on singles by Newman and Fiek.

Prospecting

IT HAD BEEN SAID it was a mere historical curiosity that if you were to drop an Indian into a body of water, the child would follow its natural instincts and swim.

My wife and I have observed our fair share of progressive theories for young parents but we're both too stupid to try that one out on our neighborhood daughter. Nonetheless, we do have a project going this summer aimed eventually at teaching Tia to swim.

My spouse rarely has a lot more to do with the project than to let me know the date of a swimming lesson. Daddy's good progress is limited to a lone splendor and a gasping head-out-of-the-water crawl. The instructor might carry him a length or two through a neighborhood pool, and he'll swim the depth of an eye span with the crawl.

Deep down, I am afraid my daughter is much more than a really nice swimmer, but her name says she's a swimmer.

Slighenmyer Closes Books

By MAXINE 1966

Superintendent Harold L. Slighenmyer and Township High School Dist. 214 have been going steady for 21 years.

And they have been "growing steady" for the last 10.

The retirement of the jolly superintendent at the end of July will not stop the growth of the second largest high school district in the state. The calm, background and experience of the two men will assure the administrative responsibilities of the district unhampered growth.

Dr. Edward Gilbert who has been serving as assistant superintendent, will become superintendent Aug. 1. Robert McLennan, who recently served in the capacity of instructional coordinator, will become assistant superintendent. The educational "big three" of the district are meeting the needs of all the students in the outstanding goal for the district.

SLIGHENMYER came to Dist. 214 in 1945 as dean of boys and then served as director of guidance and administration assistant to the superintendent. In 1954 he became superintendent.

"We thought we would always be a rural district," Slighenmyer says. In 1947 a study indicated the district would increase by 25 pupils a year and projected an enrollment of 12,000 students in 1970.

"At that time we thought 12,000 was a married couple and we wondered how Arlington High School could serve the need," said Slighenmyer.

Now the district has five high schools to serve more than 9,400 students. Arlington was opened in 1952, Prospect in 1957, Forest View in 1962 and Wheeling in 1964.

The sixth high school, Willow, is scheduled to open in 1968. The board of education now estimates that a new high school will be needed every two years and projects 10 schools for the district.

"The students are surprising serious students," said Slighenmyer. "In the past few years we are meeting an increase in the serious students. There was a time when there was no truancy. Now we have a very small per cent who do not want to be in school. Now the students can see that grades are worthwhile and people in general do not frown on an education to the superintendent. In 1963 he was appointed assistant superintendent and in June, 1965 was named to replace Slighenmyer.

Gilbert left Chilchiana and "back east" where he was offered a position at the University of Chicago. It was there that he became acquainted with Arlington through work with the elementary school.

Under the Texas school system Gilbert finished high school when he was 16. He attended high school in Oklahoma and had approximately 70 students. Now at 65, he is superintendent of high school district that employs 587 teachers.

SLIGHENMYER began his career as a biology teacher because he said in this "You won't start just how biology you want to do."

He began to counsel

When Super. Harold L. Slighenmyer says finding it's more. Slighenmyer is retiring after 21 years with High School Dist. 214.

Slighenmyer is the same reason. "When I would work with the students it was difficult to teach periodically for a semester. I like administrative work. I am an administrator who is going for the classroom. I think there is a real challenge in administration. I believe an administrator is still a teacher without the formal classroom situation. The basic role of a teacher is to establish conditions under which the student grows and develops their capabilities. With this concept in mind administration is trying to establish conditions under which other people can function. The administrator coordinates the actions of other people and at that same time is a teacher," he said.

Gilbert said his main duties were to "maintain the quality of the educational program, the district level and open if possible to improve it. I am very concerned with personnel. We are in a time of intensive competition for good teachers and top personnel," he said.

"I firmly believe that the best ingredients of educational progress is the quality of the teachers we have," he said. Gilbert and his wife Arlene have one daughter, Shanon, 10, a junior high school student.

THE NUMBER, 10, was on the administration team pool at Fort McHenry when he was named director of assistant superintendent.

McLennan has been with the district for 10 years so he is not a stranger to the job. He received his bachelor's degree from Iowa State College, Ames, and a master's from Northwestern University.

Within the district he was mathematics department chairman of the department superintendent and Prospect High School. He served as principal curriculum director and instructional coordinator.

He was accepted as a Ph.D. student to complete his M.S. in education at Northwestern University and will receive his degree in the fall. He is the head of education for the high school year. The retirement will be July 31.

Riot Duty: Tense Tour of Chicago

By JIM ROSS

Chicago's West Side, torn by nights of rioting, was relatively quiet Sunday. No major incidents were reported and only a few arrests were made.

Jack Walter, spokesman for the Arlington Heights Police Department, was among nearly 1,000 members of the National Guard on duty Sunday night.

Walter is assistant criminal investigator and was assigned to Marshall's Office, 334 E. Madison, at the National Guard Armory at North and Kedzie Aves.

"It's always a rough scene," Walter said. "Right now we are on a powder keg and again the city is quiet but it could flare up again at any time."

Walter said he feels it is the job of any individual which is partly responsible for the situation among the guardsmen. "It puts a pressure on them. They expect something to happen and they grow more tense waiting for it."

ANOTHER reason, Walter said, is that several and possibly in the area were reported Sunday.

Learning Center Plan Rejected By 4-3 Vote

By BRUCE CUTLER

The Dist. 27 board of education tonight voted down participation in a neighboring district's school program financed with federal funds.

By a 4 to 3 vote the board rejected its involvement in Dist. 25's diagnostic learning center.

After 45 minutes of debate in the board's only July meeting, board president William A. Krampert announced, "We've gone around in circles," and asked the "please" of the board.

Following Krampert's response, Krampert moved to the next item on the agenda, "We've brought back to the question of the participation in Dist. 25's program."

Board member John M. Page, moved to "authorize the administration to discuss necessary to participate in the diagnostic center operated by Dist. 25."

His motion was seconded by board member James Ruff. But after being moved by Krampert, the motion was defeated 4 to 3.

THE CONVOY was sent to the center of the city. The center is a place where children with serious handicaps, as well as in learning disabilities, are sent.

In carrying their vote, all board members except Don B. Carson voted a short time ago. Carson voted a short time ago.

"Federal aid is education here in the city," said Robert W. Russell, "and children in our school district must not be deprived of necessary services."

ROGER A. Johnson pointed out that the center is a place where children with serious handicaps, as well as in learning disabilities, are sent.

Among the questions were: "To what extent is Dist. 27 involved in federal participation?"

"What would participation cost?"

"If Dist. 27 participated in the center, it would be a later date, possibly damage from the board."

How much would the problems of transportation and liability which were raised in the debate.

Would teachers be burdened with in-service training?

Jack Walter, a spokesman for the Arlington Heights Police Department, is among National Guard members on riot duty in Chicago. He talks with another military policeman during an inspection tour Sunday afternoon.

Walter said he feels that the job of any individual which is partly responsible for the situation among the guardsmen. "It puts a pressure on them. They expect something to happen and they grow more tense waiting for it."

Joey's Dad Would Be Proud

Eleven-year-old Joe Williams, of 2721 N. Arlington Heights Rd., finished a bill on Main St. in West Dundee Sunday to win the Dundee Jaycees' Summer Derby and a chance to play for the national title.

"I know this is going to make his father very happy," Joe's grandfather, Mr. William C. Williams, said. "He will be proud of his son."

Joe is a student at Schenck Elementary High School and worked for two months to build the racer. It is a white beauty that carried the number 84-B-Sunday.

A broken truck axle kept Joe from competing the week before in the Dan Plains Derby so Sunday he took his car to Dundee.

Joe's mother, Marie, and his grandfather, L. Williams, were on hand to cheer him on for the running of the All American Derby and the 251 other entrants will compete there Aug. 6 for the national championship.

Sunday Joe was very fast. First he beat all the racers in his class - Class B for 11-and-12-year-olds. Then he went on to defeat the Class A winner who had won over 100 times in 13 to 15 years.

According to Jerry Williams, who directed the derby for the Dundee Jaycees, Joe was the only country boy to win the derby who will prepare it. He will be the only country boy to win the derby who will prepare it.

Joe's grandfather's firm, Williams, Inc., operates the derby. He will be the only country boy to win the derby who will prepare it.

Girls Left High and Dry By Navy

BY MAXINE TYMA
Sharon Gehlke and Jeanette Kronka has 40,000 reasons for being very determined young girls.
Sharon, 19, of 13 Edwards Rd., Prospect Heights, and Jeanette, 19, of 151 George Rd., Wheeling, began collecting paperback books for servicemen in Viet Nam.
The project was begun in and Jeanette thought the books were and by the time Sharon would be on route to the it needs more than 3,000 different books and will be looking for more. Harry Greenbaum, 339-2781 after 2, to midnight.

Sharon told Jeanette got the idea from a soldier friend at Viet Nam who wrote home saying that reading material is appreciated by the men serving there.
Several community organizations also have contributed books and time to help the girls.
Sharon said she is determined to get the books to the soldiers, if at all possible. Persons with ideas or books may contact Sharon Gehlke at 337-0469 or Jeanette Kronka at 337-0469.

into. Right now the 40,000 are stored at Arlington High School.
An unfortunate misadventure occurred when Harry Greenbaum of Glenview Naval Air Base told Sharon that her project would be eligible for a grant under "Operation Hand-Clasp." She was told that all she would have to do would be to buy and securely tie the books and let the Navy know when she would bring them to the base.

LAST WEEK Sharon called Lt. Cmdr. Tom Covill at Glenview and told him she would be delivering the books. He told her that the Navy could not help her through "Operation Hand-Clasp." A strict enforcement of military regulations and overcrowded warehouses on the East and West Coasts prevented his accepting her donation.

Commander Covill told the Day that he told Sharon he would accept the books because he thought "Hand-Clasp" would handle them. Sharon wrote to the West Coast coordinator who informed Covill that the books were considered material and could not be taken in the project.

Covill explained the project as a "people-to-people" project to put persons in contact. He said the Navy could handle contributions from persons or organizations but the material could not have a specific destination. The goods are used to help the needy all over the world and not the cause governing the project is that the material be managed for special distribution. The donations must be approved by one of the warehouse coordinators and material is accepted on a space available basis only.

COVILL suggested that Sharon contact the Red Cross and give them the books for distribution in veterans' hospitals.

Sharon says she will give several thousand books to Hines and Grant Lakes hospitals for the Viet Nam veterans but she won't give all the books.

"People in the community contributed the books because they thought they were going to soldiers in Viet Nam," Sharon says. "I don't regret anything. I do. A promise is a promise," she said.

THURSDAY the 30,000 books donated from Bazam were delivered to Arlington High School. The Moffett Training Co. in Des Plaines donated one of its trucks for transporting the books to Arlington Heights.

Soldiers from the Nike Site in Arlington Heights helped the girls collect the books at the high school.

The girls collected additional books when the Randolph Crows donated space to set up.

Realtors Object To Housing Bill As 'Foot in Door'

Title IV of the proposed Civil Rights Act of 1966, known as the open occupancy bill, remains a foot in the door for federal regulation of all real property, despite a so-called "warning down" by the House Judiciary Committee, according to Ralph H. Bruns, president of the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors.

Bruns said that the committee, to a "spite suit" use would the provision to persons, presumably charging discrimination, in attempting to occupy a one- to four-family structure, where one of the units is occupied by the owner, from the requirement of having to sell or rent to a party not of his race.

"Though this ostensibly lessens the scope of the bill," Bruns said, "property owners and Realtors consider their unflagging opposition to Title IV because the basic objection still remains. It destroys a fundamental right heretofore considered sacrosanct in this country. I refer to the right of freedom of contract, the right to sell or rent property -- or not to sell or rent -- to whomever one chooses without coercion from the government."

Bruns and he feels that the owner of a freehold building is entitled to much protection from the government as those owners exempted by the revision.

If the bill is passed, Bruns predicts that it will be only a matter of time until all owners are covered.

"Such a course of tightening existing laws has been the pattern in the few states with recent housing statutes," he said.

The end aimed at by the bill is good, he said, but the means are bad.

"While the goal of open occupancy is praiseworthy, such legislation, which even enters the realm of thought directed by engineering the government to question the reasons for certain acts, is the wrong way approach and will expose the nation to charges of harassment by federal authorities," he said.

BRUNS warned that Title IV would expose homeowners to a risk of "spite suit" from persons, presumably charging discrimination, in attempting to occupy a one- to four-family structure, where one of the units is occupied by the owner, from the requirement of having to sell or rent to a party not of his race.

It's been a good six months for the Chicago & North Western Railway.

The railroad reported a consolidated first half net income of $14,622,776. It was the highest for any first six months period in the 116-year history of the North Western.

For the same period last year the road's income was $13,074,424.

The net income per common share was $10.52 based on the average 1,211,762 shares outstanding. The net income per common share last year was $9.75 based on the 888,850 shares then outstanding.

Ben W. Heinen, chairman and president of the North Western, said that the higher earnings from railroad operations and two subsidiaries, W. L. & C. Chemical Corp. and Michigan Chemical Corp., appeared July 1, 1966.

"Do you really mean I'm privileged to have her?" asks Betty Borgen, 1246 Welling.

Mrs. Donald Pender, 1444 N. Harvard, is happy to have that freckles are very much in fashion this year.

Julie Pender, 1444 N. Harvard, expresses pleasure that she won't have to worry about how to get rid of her freckles.

Too Many Freckles? Never

BY MARILYN HELPERS

Too many freckles? Can't enjoy the sun at the pool? Forget all freckles are "in." New freckles are to be shown, not camouflaged.

Girls in Paris without freckles are drawing there, in Paris who have them are amazing them. And sooner or later, Paris fashion magazines will come over here.

Freckles are all part of the youthful natural look. For girls who have been trying to get rid of freckles, the look is a happy find.

Many young Hollywood stars have been showing that freckles is fine.

New York beauty editors have been saying good things about freckles.

Leatrice, make-up artist at Revlon, "I always have advised freckles. If you have covered them up, they are a sign of youth."

Charles of the Rue: "They are a wonderful sign of youth, part of the trend toward natural beauty."

It's all right if the freckles on your face are in an area of experimentation in beauty.

Edie Lander: "We believe in the natural look. If a woman has freckles, she shouldn't cover them. They can be great just as they are."

An Oriental Oasis

It may look like Tokyo, but the Japanese garden is thriving at Arlington Heights. The garden, planned and built by G. H. Krum, 542 S. Dakota, is divided from the rest of the Krum back yard by a stone. The Oriental-sporting building at right actually is the rear of a garage. Garden inhabitants include goldfish and turtles, who live among waterlilies in the fresh water pool at left.

Shift into Summer Comfort, It's Easy

Depressing, isn't it? The way that summer has just taken hold, and already store windows are filled with wooly clothing for October weather.

But don't despair. If the heat has given your summer wardrobe inadequate, right now is a great time to pick up some bargains in cool clothing.

Shirts in boldly patterned fabrics are a particularly good bet for the bargain hunter.

If you're fortunate enough to find a guy one proportioned to your figure, buy it.

It's a design that has survived the test of centuries. Persian motifs are seen in tapestries, rugs and pottery — so why not in your shirt?

If you can't find a Persian design shift ready-made, why go your own route.

Silk, sheer woods and jerseys are best for the shift silhouette as you will want the fabric to be a challenge.

Some of the lighter weight, boned fabrics are ideal, too. If your fabric is stretchy, let it through.

When a dress has only two body seams, cut so the seam line will be a half-inch under the bust line and the pattern call for. Seen lines are your structure line, and you will want them wide enough to hold the dress to position on your body.

Even if you're all things with a needle and thread, try purchasing some material and making a shift. It's simple if you stick to a pattern for a dress that hangs straight from the shoulder to hem.

DOCTOR SAYS
Encephalitis

Q — What is encephalitis?
A — Encephalitis is a disease of the brain. It is caused by a virus. No treatment is known but about 50 per cent of the victims recover. Recovery may be complete or there may be residual effects such as weakness of the upper limbs, mental impairment or emotional lability that may not persist beyond the disease. Prognosis would not necessarily be worse but the mother's — encephalitis might harm the fetus.

Q — What causes hemorrhoids?
A — Hemorrhoids or piles are a form of varicose vein located at the outlet of the bowel. The cause may be prolonged straining at stool, a congenital weakness of the tissues surrounding the veins of the rectum or pregnancy. Irritation of any sort at a level below that of true pain may cause itching. Piles may itch when there is a slight break in the overlying mucous membrane or when the stool is highly acid. Piles do not increase the danger of cancer of the rectum but the two conditions may coexist.

Q — What is the best treatment for hyperactivity of the stomach?
A — Few studies of the associated disorders of the stomach are available. The stomach is a muscular organ and is affected by many factors. It is important to determine whether your hyperactivity is caused by a peptic ulcer, gall bladder disease, irritable bowel or emotional upset and then treat the cause.

Boating Accidents Are on the Decline

By JACK WOLSTON

Tragedy is bound to occur occasionally in a family sport which attracts some 40 million Americans each year, and the number of deaths is declining.

But a good segment of the people concerned with the sport are working to reduce the number of deaths.

Always wear seat-belts. A boat can get slippery and give you some very large waves.

When swimming off a boat, always lean in five feet or more, leaving it directly out of the water in the event of an accident.

Keep Americans beautiful! Inc. the national public service organization devoted to the prevention of litter, reports that it has received 100,000 letters.

Approximately 100 people from all over the state are expected to participate in the first annual "Keep America Beautiful" contest.
